Mr. Nathan C. Barrow
Assistant City Attorney
City of Fort Worth

Fort Worth, Texas 76102

OR2006-02795

Dear Mr. Barrow:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 244542.

The City of Fort Worth (the "city") received a request for 9-1-1 call sheets relating to twenty one listed individuals and addresses during a certain time period. You claim that the requested information is excepted from disclosure under sections 552.101 and 552.130 of the Government Code. We have considered the exceptions you claim and reviewed the submitted information.

Section 552.101 excepts from disclosure "information considered to be confidential by law, either constitutional, statutory, or by judicial decision." This section encompasses information protected by other statutes, such as chapter 772 of the Health and Safety Code. Chapter 772 authorizes the development of local emergency communications districts. Section 772.218 applies only to an emergency 9-1-1 district established in accordance with chapter 772. See Open Records Decision No. 649 (1996). This statute makes confidential the originating telephone numbers and addresses of 9-1-1 callers that are furnished by a service supplier. Id. at 2. You state that the city is part of an emergency communication district that was established under section 772.218 and claim that the telephone numbers and addresses that you have marked in Exhibit C are those of 9-1-1 callers' whose information was furnished to the city by a service provider.¹ However, you have marked all of the ¹While you cite to section 772.318 of the Health and Safety Code in your comments to this office, we understand you to assert that 772.218 is applicable to the information. As you acknowledge, subchapter C of chapter 772 governs counties with populations of more than 860,000. See Health & Safety Code § 772.204. Section 772.318 is located in subchapter D of chapter 772, which governs counties with populations of more than 20,000. See id. § 772.304.

telephone numbers and addresses in the submitted 9-1-1 call sheets. Upon review, it is clear that some of these telephone numbers and addresses do not belong to the actual 9-1-1 callers, but are the telephone numbers and addresses of other individuals and locations. Section 772.218 is only applicable to the originating telephone number and address of an actual 9-1-1 caller. Id. We cannot determine which of the telephone numbers and addresses that you have marked are the originating telephone numbers and addresses of 9-1-1 callers. Thus, we find that the city must withhold only the originating telephone numbers and addresses of the actual 9-1-1 callers from public disclosure under section 552.101 in conjunction with section 772.218 of the Health and Safety Code. The remaining telephone numbers and addresses must be released. Additionally, you have marked the name of an individual as subject to section 772.218. Section 772.218 does not except the identity of any individual from disclosure. Accordingly, the name you have marked must be released.

You claim that the submitted 9-1-1 call sheets contain a license plate number subject to section 552.130 of the Government Code, which excepts from disclosure information that “relates to . . . a motor vehicle operator’s or driver’s license or permit issued by an agency of this state [or] a motor vehicle title or registration issued by an agency of this state.” Gov’t Code § 552.130. In accordance with section 552.130 of the Government Code, the city must withhold the Texas license plate number you have marked.

In summary, the city must withhold only the originating telephone numbers and addresses of 9-1-1 callers that were furnished by a service supplier under section 552.101 in conjunction with section 772.218 of the Health and Safety Code. In accordance with section 552.130 of the Government Code, the city must withhold the Texas license plate number you have marked. The remaining information must be released.

This letter ruling is limited to the particular records at issue in this request and limited to the facts as presented to us; therefore, this ruling must not be relied upon as a previous determination regarding any other records or any other circumstances.

This ruling triggers important deadlines regarding the rights and responsibilities of the governmental body and of the requestor. For example, governmental bodies are prohibited from asking the attorney general to reconsider this ruling. Gov’t Code § 552.301(f). If the governmental body wants to challenge this ruling, the governmental body must appeal by filing suit in Travis County within 30 calendar days. Id. § 552.324(b). In order to get the full benefit of such an appeal, the governmental body must file suit within 10 calendar days. Id. § 552.353(b)(3), (c). If the governmental body does not appeal this ruling and the governmental body does not comply with it, then both the requestor and the attorney general have the right to file suit against the governmental body to enforce this ruling. Id. § 552.321(a).

If this ruling requires the governmental body to release all or part of the requested information, the governmental body is responsible for taking the next step. Based on the statute, the attorney general expects that, upon receiving this ruling, the governmental body will either release the public records promptly pursuant to section 552.221(a) of the

The requestor may also file a complaint with the district or county attorney. Id. § 552.3215(e).

If this ruling requires or permits the governmental body to withhold all or some of the requested information, the requestor can appeal that decision by suing the governmental body. Id. § 552.321(a); Texas Dep't of Pub. Safety v. Gilbreath, 842 S.W.2d 408, 411 (Tex. App.—Austin 1992, no writ).

Please remember that under the Act the release of information triggers certain procedures for costs and charges to the requestor. If records are released in compliance with this ruling, be sure that all charges for the information are at or below the legal amounts. Questions or complaints about over-charging must be directed to Hadassah Schloss at the Office of the Attorney General at (512) 475-2497.

If the governmental body, the requestor, or any other person has questions or comments about this ruling, they may contact our office. Although there is no statutory deadline for contacting us, the attorney general prefers to receive any comments within 10 calendar days of the date of this ruling.

Sincerely,

José Vela III
