Dear Ms. Fort:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 336388.

The Plano Economic Development Board, Inc. (the "board"), which you represent, received a request for the board's agendas and minutes for three specified years. You claim that the submitted information is not subject to the Act. Alternatively, you claim that the requested information is excepted from disclosure under sections 552.101 and 552.136 of the Government Code. We have considered your arguments and reviewed the submitted representative sample of information.¹

The Act requires "governmental bodies" to make public, with certain exceptions, information in their possession. Section 552.003 of the Government Code defines "governmental body," in part, as "the part, section, or portion of an organization, corporation, commission, committee, institution, or agency that spends or that is supported in whole or in part by public funds." Gov't Code § 552.003(1)(A)(xii). This office has previously ruled that the board constitutes a governmental body under section 552.003(1)(A)(xii) with respect to the ¹We assume that the "representative sample" of records submitted to this office is truly representative of the requested records as a whole. See Open Records Decision Nos. 499 (1988), 497 (1988). This open records letter does not reach, and therefore does not authorize the withholding of, any other requested records to the extent that those records contain substantially different types of information than that submitted to this office.

services it performs under its contract with the City of Plano (the "city"). See Open Records Letter Ruling No. 2007-16399 (2007). However, as you note, in certain instances, based on our examination of the specifics of a situation, this office will find that only records related to those parts of an entity directly supported by public funds are subject to the Act. See Open Records Decision No. 602 at 5 (1992) (determining that records of Dallas Museum of Art pertaining to private collection of artwork for which City of Dallas had provided no direct support were not subject to Act).

We do not agree that Open Records Decision No. 602 applies in this instance. In support of your claim that the requested information is not subject to the Act, you have provided an affidavit from the finance director of the City of Plano ("city") that states that the private funds have always been kept separate from the funds provided by the city. You inform us that the contract between the board and the city addresses only the use of public funds and that all decisions regarding use of the private funds are made by the board without direction from the city. However, you have not submitted records that do not concern the economic development of the city for which the board receives public funds, or pointed us to a separate program funded solely by the private funds. Instead, the contract and other submitted information indicate that the city provides general support for the operation of the board and that the city and board share a common purpose and objective, namely the economic development of the city. See Kneeland v. National Collegiate Athletic Association, 850 F.2d 224 (5th Cir. 1988); Open Records Letter Ruling No. 2007-16399 (2007).

Moreover, the submitted information concerns matters related to the economic development activities the board performs for the city. The submitted information also demonstrates the closeness of the relationship between the city and the board and the nature of the general support provided by the city to the board. Based on the totality of these facts, we conclude that the board in its entirety constitutes a governmental body within the meaning of section 552.003 and that all of the requested information is subject to the Act. See Open Records Decision No. 621 at 5 (1993) (determining that entire Arlington Economic Development Foundation constitutes governmental body where such foundation had received both city funding and private contributions). Accordingly, we will address the exceptions to disclosure you have raised pursuant to section 552.301 of the Government Code.

Initially, we note that portions of the submitted information, which we have marked, are not responsive to the instant request because they do not consist of board agendas or minutes. The board need not release non-responsive information in response to this request and this ruling will not address that information.

You assert that some of the responsive information is excepted under section 552.101 of the Government Code, which excepts from disclosure "information considered to be confidential by law, either constitutional, statutory, or by judicial decision." This section encompasses information protected by other statutes, including federal law. Section 6103(a) of title 26 of the United States Code provides that tax return information is confidential. See 26 U.S.C.

§ 6103(a)(2), (b)(2)(A), (p)(8); see also Open Records Decision No. 600 (1992); Attorney General Op. MW-372 (1981). However, based on our review, the responsive information does not contain any tax return information. Accordingly, none of the responsive information is confidential under section 6103(a), and the board may not withhold this information under section 552.101 on that basis.

You also argue that the name and address of any donor of private funds is excepted from disclosure under federal law. Section 6104 of title 26 provides that certain documents are excepted from the confidentiality requirements of section 6103, stating in relevant part:

(d) Public inspection of certain annual returns[.]

(1) In general. In the case of an organization described in subsection (c) or (d) of section 501 and exempt from taxation under section 501(a) or an organization exempt from taxation under section 527(a)

(A) a copy of

(i) the annual return filed under section 6033 . . . by such organization,

shall be made available by such organization for inspection during regular business hours by any individual at the principal office of such organization and . . .

(B) upon request of an individual made at such principal office . . . a copy of such annual return . . . shall be provided to such individual without charge other than a reasonable fee for any reproduction and mailing costs.

(2) 3-year limitation on inspection of returns.— Paragraph (1) shall apply to an annual return filed under section 6033 or section 6012(a)(6) only during the 3-year period beginning on the last day prescribed for filing such return (determined with regard to any extension of time for filing).

Id. § 6104(d)(1)-(2); see 26 C.F.R. § 301.6104(d)-1(a). Thus, a section 501 tax-exempt organization must generally make its annual information returns available for public inspection for a period of three years from the last day prescribed for filing. The public disclosure requirement of section 6104(d) for a section 501(c) or (d) organization also applies to certain other specified tax filings in addition to the annual return. See 26 U.S.C. § 6104(d)(1)(A). However, the law includes an exception to this disclosure requirement for information about contributors to the organization. Section 6104(d)(3) reads as follows:

(3) Exceptions from disclosure requirement. -

(A) Nondisclosure of contributors, etc. - In the case of an organization which is not a private foundation (within the meaning of section 509(a)) or a political organization exempt from taxation under section 527, paragraph (1) shall not require the disclosure of the name or address of any contributor to the organization

Id. § 6104(d)(3). Thus, under subsection (3), the disclosure requirement of paragraph (1) for the tax returns and other filings of certain tax exempt organizations does not apply to the name and address of the contributors to the organization found in the returns. However, as stated previously, no portion of the responsive information consists of tax return information. Accordingly, section 6104 of title 26 of the United States Code is not applicable to any of the responsive information. Thus, the board may not withhold any of the responsive information under section 552.101 in conjunction with federal law.

Lastly, you assert that some of the submitted information contains account numbers and/or access information subject to section 552.136 of the Government Code. Section 552.136 states that “[n]otwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, a credit card, debit card, charge card, or access device number that is collected, assembled, or maintained by or for a governmental body is confidential.” Id. § 552.136(b). We note that none of the submitted information contains account numbers or access information for the purposes of section 552:136, and none of it may be withheld on that basis. As you raise no further exceptions to disclosure, the board must release all of the responsive information to the requestor.

This letter ruling is limited to the particular information at issue in this request and limited to the facts as presented to us; therefore, this ruling must not be relied upon as a previous determination regarding any other information or any other circumstances.

This ruling triggers important deadlines regarding the rights and responsibilities of the governmental body and of the requestor.
