Dear Ms. Henry:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 482721 (Police Department ORR No. ABRL010913).

The Plano Police Department (the "department") received a request for information related to any arrests of the requestor's client. You state the department has released some information to the requestor. You claim the requested information is excepted from disclosure under section 552.101 of the Government Code. We have considered the exception you claim and reviewed the submitted information.

Section 552.101 of the Government Code excepts from disclosure "information considered to be confidential by law, either constitutional, statutory, or by judicial decision." Gov't Code § 552.101. Section 552.101 encompasses section 261.201 of the Family Code, which provides in part:

(a) [T]he following information is confidential, is not subject to public release under [the Act] and may be disclosed only for purposes consistent with this code and applicable federal or state law or under rules adopted by an investigating agency:

- (1) a report of alleged or suspected abuse or neglect made under this chapter and the identity of the person making the report; and
- (2) except as otherwise provided in this section, the files, reports, records, communications, audiotapes, videotapes, and working papers used or developed in an investigation under this chapter or in providing services as a result of an investigation.

(k) Notwithstanding Subsection (a), an investigating agency, other than the department or the Texas Youth Commission, on request, shall provide to the parent, managing conservator, or other legal representative of a child who is the subject of reported abuse or neglect, or to the child if the child is at least 18 years of age, information concerning the reported abuse or neglect that would otherwise be confidential under this section. The investigating agency shall withhold information under this subsection if the parent, managing conservator, or other legal representative of the child requesting the information is alleged to have committed the abuse or neglect.

Fam. Code § 261.201(a), (k). The submitted information pertains to an investigation of the offense of driving while intoxicated with a child passenger. Accordingly, we find the submitted information falls within the scope of section 261.201(a) of the Family Code. See id. §§ 261.001 (defining “abuse” and “neglect” for purposes of chapter 261 of the Family Code), 101.003(a) (defining “child” for purposes of this section as person under 18 years of age who is not and has not been married or who has not had the disabilities of minority removed for general purposes). We note information may not be withheld on the basis of section 261.201(a) from a parent of a child who was the victim of alleged or suspected abuse or neglect unless the parent is alleged to have committed the abuse or neglect. See id. § 261.201(k). Although the requestor is the attorney of a parent of the children who were the victims of the alleged or suspected abuse or neglect, the parent is accused of committing the abuse or neglect. Accordingly, we conclude the submitted information is generally confidential pursuant to section 261.201 of the Family Code. See Open Records Decision No. 440 at 2 (1986) (construing predecessor statute).

However, we note the submitted documents contain information pertaining to the analysis of a blood specimen obtained by a peace officer. Section 724.018 of the Transportation Code provides that “[o]n the request of a person who has given a specimen at the request of a peace officer, full information concerning the analysis of the specimen shall be made available to the person or the person’s attorney.” Transp. Code § 724.018. In this instance, the requestor’s client is the individual who gave the blood specimen at the request of a peace officer. Accordingly, we find the requestor has a right of access to the information subject to section 724.018 of the Transportation Code.

Thus, although the submitted information is generally confidential under section 261.201 of the Family Code, section 724.018 provides the requestor with a right of access to the information pertaining to the analysis of a blood specimen obtained by a peace officer. Therefore, there is a conflict between the confidentiality provision of section 261.201 and the right of access provision of section 724.018. Where general and specific statutes are in irreconcilable conflict, the specific provision typically prevails as an exception to the general provision, unless the general provision was enacted later and there is clear evidence the legislature intended the general provision to prevail. See Gov’t Code § 311.026(b); City of Lake Dallas v. Lake Cities Mun. Util. Auth., 555 S.W.2d 163, 168 (Tex. Civ. App.—Fort Worth 1977, writ ref'd n.r.e.). In this instance, although section 261.201 of the Family Code generally makes records of alleged child abuse or neglect confidential, section 724.018 of the Transportation Code specifically permits release of information pertaining to the analysis of a blood specimen to certain parties. We, therefore, conclude the information we have marked pertaining to the analysis of a blood specimen may not be withheld from the requestor under section 261.201(a). Thus, the department must release the information we have marked pertaining to the analysis of a blood specimen to the requestor under section 724.018 of the Transportation Code.

In summary, the department must release the information we have marked pertaining to the analysis of a blood specimen under section 724.018 of the Transportation Code. The department must withhold the remaining information under section 552.101 in conjunction with section 261.201 of the Family Code.
