Dear Ms. Auchey:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 519019.

The Leander Police Department (the "department") received two requests for information pertaining to a specified incident. You state the department has released some information to the requestors. You claim the remaining requested information is excepted from disclosure under section 552.101 of the Government Code. We have considered the exception you claim and reviewed the submitted information.

Section 552.101 of the Government Code excepts from disclosure "information considered to be confidential by law, either constitutional, statutory, or by judicial decision." Gov't Code § 552.101. This section encompasses the doctrine of constitutional privacy. Constitutional privacy consists of two interrelated types of privacy: (1) the right to make certain kinds of decisions independently and (2) an individual's interest in avoiding disclosure of personal matters. See Whalen v. Roe, 429 U.S. 589, 599-600 (1977); Open Records Decision Nos. 600 at 3-5 (1992), 478 at 4 (1987), 455 at 3-7 (1987). The first type protects an individual's autonomy within "zones of privacy" which include matters related to marriage, procreation, contraception, family relationships, and child rearing and education. ORD 455 at 4. The second type of constitutional privacy requires a balancing between the individual's privacy interests and the public's need to know information of public concern. Id. at 7. The scope of information protected is narrower than that under the common-law doctrine of privacy; constitutional privacy under section 552.101 is reserved for "the most intimate aspects of human affairs." Id. at 5 (quoting Ramie v. City of Hedwig Village, Tex., 765 F.2d 490 (5th Cir. 1985)). The right to privacy is a personal right that lapses at death and therefore may not be asserted solely on behalf of a deceased individual. See Moore v. Charles B. Pierce Film Enters., Inc., 589 S.W.2d 489, 491; Open Records Decision No. 272 at 1 (1981). However, the United States Supreme Court has determined that surviving family members can have a privacy interest in information relating to their deceased relatives. See Nat'l Archives & Records Admin. v. Favish, 541 U.S. 157 (2004). You state you have notified the deceased individual's family of the request for information and of their right to assert a privacy interest in the information at issue. As of the date of this decision, we have not received any correspondence from the deceased individual's family. Thus, we have no basis for determining the family's privacy interest in the submitted information. Therefore, this information may not be withheld under section 552.101 in conjunction with constitutional privacy.

We note the submitted photographs and videos contain images of license plates that do not belong to the requestors' client's vehicle. Section 552.130 of the Government Code excepts from disclosure information relating to a motor vehicle operator's or driver's license or permit, a motor vehicle title or registration, or a personal identification document issued by an agency of this state or another state or country.¹ Gov't Code § 552.130(a). Accordingly, the department must withhold the images of license plates that do not belong to the requestors' client's vehicle in the submitted photographs and video under section 552.130 of the Government Code.

In summary, the department must withhold the images of license plates that do not belong to the requestors' client's vehicle in the submitted photographs and video under section 552.130 of the Government Code. The remaining information must be released.²

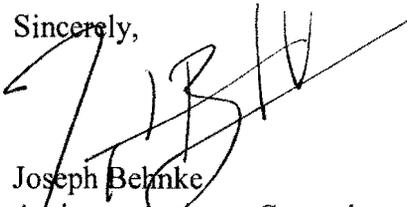

¹The Office of the Attorney General will raise a mandatory exception on behalf of a governmental body but ordinarily will not raise other exceptions. See Open Records Decision Nos. 481 (1987), 480 (1987), 470 (1987).

²We note the information being released contains images of the license plates of the requestors' client's vehicle that are subject to section 552.130(a) of the Government Code, and to which the requestors have a right of access under section 552.023 of the Government Code. See Gov't Code §§ 552.023(a) (person or person's authorized representative has special right of access, beyond right of general public, to information held by governmental body that relates to person and is protected from public disclosure by laws intended to protect person's privacy interests), 130. We note section 552.130 of the Government Code allows a governmental body to redact the information described in subsection 552.130(a) without the necessity of seeking a decision from the attorney general. See Gov't Code § 552.130(c). However, if a governmental body redacts such information, it must notify the requestor in accordance with section 552.130(e). See id. § 552.130(d), (e). Thus, if the department receives another request for this same information from a person who does not have such a right of access, section 552.130(c) authorizes the department to redact the requestors' client's information that is subject to section 552.130(a).

This letter ruling is limited to the particular information at issue in this request and limited to the facts as presented to us; therefore, this ruling must not be relied upon as a previous determination regarding any other information or any other circumstances.

This ruling triggers important deadlines regarding the rights and responsibilities of the governmental body and of the requestor.
