Dear Ms. Russell:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 554333.

The City of Richland Hills and the Richland Hills Police Department (collectively, the "city"), which you represent, received a request for ten categories of information pertaining to tasers. You state the city will withhold motor vehicle record information pursuant to section 552.130(c) of the Government Code, social security numbers pursuant to section 552.147(b) of the Government Code, and certain information pursuant to Open Records Decision No. 684 (2009).<sup>1</sup> You claim the submitted information is excepted from disclosure under sections 552.107 and 552.108 of the Government Code. We have considered the exceptions you claim and reviewed the submitted information. We have also received and considered comments submitted by the requestor. See Gov't Code § 552.304

<sup>1</sup>Section 552.130(c) of the Government Code allows a governmental body to redact the information described in subsection 552.130(a) without the necessity of seeking a decision from the attorney general. See Gov't Code § 552.130(c). If a governmental body redacts such information, it must notify the requestor in accordance with section 552.130(e). See id. § 552.130(d), (e). Section 552.147(b) of the Government Code authorizes a governmental body to redact a living person's social security number from public release without requesting a decision from this office under the Act. Id. § 552.147(b). Open Records Decision No. 684 is a previous determination to all governmental bodies authorizing them to withhold certain information without the necessity of requesting an attorney general decision.

(providing that interested party may submit written comments regarding why information should or should not be released).

Initially, the requestor argues the city failed to comply with section 552.301 of the Government Code. Pursuant to subsection 552.301(b), within ten business days after receiving a written request the governmental body must request a ruling from this office and state the exceptions to disclosure that apply. See id. § 552.301(b). Pursuant to subsection 552.301(d), a governmental body must provide the requestor with (1) a written statement that the governmental body wishes to withhold the requested information and has asked for a decision from the attorney general, and (2) a copy of the governmental body's written communication to the attorney general within ten business days of receiving the request for information. Id. § 552.301(d). Pursuant to subsection 552.301(e), a governmental body is required to submit to this office within fifteen business days of receiving an open records request: (1) written comments stating the reasons why the claimed exceptions apply that would allow the information to be withheld, (2) a copy of the written request for information, (3) a signed statement or sufficient evidence showing the date the governmental body received the written request, and (4) a copy of the specific information requested or representative samples, labeled to indicate which exceptions apply to which parts of the documents. Id. § 552.301(e). Subsection 552.301(e-1) requires a governmental body that submits written comments requesting a ruling to the attorney general under subsection 552.301(e)(1)(A), to send a copy of those comments to the person who requested the information from the governmental body not later than the fifteenth business day after the date of receiving the request. Id. § 552.301(e-1).

The city received the request for information on November 25, 2014. The city informs us it was closed on November 27, 2014, and November 28, 2014. We note this office does not count the date the request was received or holidays for the purpose of calculating a governmental body's deadlines under the Act. Thus, the city's ten-business-day deadline and fifteen-business-day deadline were, respectively, December 11, 2014, and December 18, 2014. The envelope in which the city submitted the information under subsection 552.301(b) bears a post meter mark of December 10, 2014. See id. § 552.308(a) (prescribing rules for calculating submission dates of documents sent via first class United States mail, common or contract carrier, or interagency mail). The request for a ruling indicates the requestor was copied on the correspondence. See id. Consequently, we find the city complied with the procedural requirements mandated by subsection 552.301(b) and subsection 552.301(d) of the Government Code.

We note subsection 552.301(e-1) does not require a governmental body to provide the requestor with enclosures beyond those containing the written comments explaining why the claimed exceptions apply. For instance, subsection 552.301(e-1) does not require the governmental body to send copies of the specific requested information, labeled to indicate which claimed exceptions apply, that it submits to this office in connection with a request for ruling under section 552.301. We further note the requestor does not contend the city improperly redacted information from the requestor's copy of the written comments. The city submitted the information under subsection 552.301(e) and submitted comments explaining why the exceptions raised in the December 10, 2014, correspondence apply in an envelope that bears a post meter mark of December 17, 2014. See id. This correspondence indicates the requestor was copied on the correspondence. See id. Consequently, we find the city complied with the procedural requirements mandated by subsection 552.301(e) and subsection 552.301(e-1) of the Government Code. Accordingly, we will address the city's arguments against disclosure of the submitted information.

Section 552.107(1) of the Government Code protects information that comes within the attorney-client privilege. Id. § 552.107. When asserting the attorney-client privilege, a governmental body has the burden of providing the necessary facts to demonstrate the elements of the privilege in order to withhold the information at issue. See Open Records Decision No. 676 at 6-7 (2002). First, a governmental body must demonstrate the information constitutes or documents a communication. Id. at 7. Second, the communication must have been made "for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of professional legal services" to the client governmental body. See TEX. R. EVID. 503(b)(1). The privilege does not apply when an attorney or representative is involved in some capacity other than that of providing or facilitating professional legal services to the client governmental body. See In re Tex. Farmers Ins. Exch., 990 S.W.2d 337, 340 (Tex. App.—Texarkana 1999, orig. proceeding) (attorney-client privilege does not apply if attorney acting in capacity other than that of attorney). Governmental attorneys often act in capacities other than that of professional legal counsel, such as administrators, investigators, or managers. Thus, the mere fact that a communication involves an attorney for the government does not demonstrate this element. Third, the privilege applies only to communications between or among clients, client representatives, lawyers, lawyer representatives, and a lawyer representing another party in a pending action and concerning a matter of common interest therein. See TEX. R. EVID. 503(b)(1). Thus, a governmental body must inform this office of the identities and capacities of the individuals to whom each communication at issue has been made. Lastly, the attorney-client privilege applies only to a confidential communication, id., meaning it was "not intended to be disclosed to third persons other than those to whom disclosure is made in furtherance of the rendition of professional legal services to the client or those reasonably necessary for the transmission of the communication." Id. 503(a)(5). Whether a communication meets this definition depends on the intent of the parties involved at the time the information was communicated. See Osborne v. Johnson, 954 S.W.2d 180, 184 (Tex. App.—Waco 1997, orig. proceeding). Moreover, because the client may elect to waive the privilege at any time, a governmental body must explain the confidentiality of a communication has been maintained. Section 552.107(1) generally excepts an entire communication that is demonstrated to be protected by the attorney-client privilege unless otherwise waived by the governmental body. See Huie v. DeShazo, 922 S.W.2d 920, 923 (Tex. 1996) (privilege extends to entire communication, including facts contained therein).

You state the submitted information consists of communications between attorneys for the city, outside legal counsel for the city, and city employees. You state the communications were made for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of professional legal services to the city. You further state these communications were intended to be confidential and have remained confidential. Upon review, we find the information we have marked consists of privileged attorney-client communications. Therefore, the city may withhold the information we have marked under section 552.107(1) of the Government Code.<sup>2</sup> However, we find the remaining communication you seek to withhold was sent to or received from an individual you have not demonstrated is a privileged party. Therefore, we conclude you have failed to establish this communication constitutes a privileged attorney-client communication for the purposes of section 552.107(1). Accordingly, the city may not withhold the remaining information under section 552.107(1) of the Government Code.

Section 552.108(b)(1) of the Government Code excepts from disclosure “[a]n internal record or notation of a law enforcement agency or prosecutor that is maintained for internal use in matters relating to law enforcement or prosecution . . . if . . . release of the internal record or notation would interfere with law enforcement or prosecution[.]” Gov’t Code § 552.108(b)(1); see City of Fort Worth v. Cornyn, 86 S.W.3d at 327 (section 552.108(b)(1) protects information that, if released, would permit private citizens to anticipate weaknesses in police department, avoid detection, jeopardize officer safety, and generally undermine police efforts to effectuate state laws). The statutory predecessor to section 552.108(b)(1) protected information that would reveal law enforcement techniques. See, e.g., Open Records Decision Nos. 531 (1989) (detailed use of force guidelines), 456 (1987) (information regarding location of off-duty police officers), 413 (1984) (sketch showing security measures to be used at next execution). The statutory predecessor to section 552.108(b)(1) was not applicable to generally known policies and procedures. See e.g. Open Records Decision Nos. 531 at 2-3 (Penal Code provisions, common-law rules, and constitutional limitations on use of force not protected), 252 at 3 (1980) (governmental body failed to indicate why investigative procedures and techniques requested were any different from those commonly known).

You state the release of the remaining information would compromise the city’s ability to protect its police officers and “allow criminals to anticipate an officer’s weaknesses, jeopardize officer safety, and generally undermine efforts to effectuate the laws of the State of Texas.” Upon review, we find you have failed to demonstrate how the release of the information at issue would interfere with law enforcement or prosecution efforts. Accordingly, the city may not withhold any of the remaining information under section 552.108(b)(1) of the Government Code.

<sup>2</sup>As our ruling is dispositive, we need not address your remaining argument against disclosure of this information.

In summary, the city may withhold the information we have marked under section 552.107(1) of the Government Code. The city must release the remaining information.

This letter ruling is limited to the particular information at issue in this request and limited to the facts as presented to us; therefore, this ruling must not be relied upon as a previous determination regarding any other information or any other circumstances.

This ruling triggers important deadlines regarding the rights and responsibilities of the governmental body and of the requestor.
