TALKING POINTS FOR EDUCATORS AND COACHES TO USE

Educators and Teachers, please see prescription painkiller misuse talking points below. These can be shared with your community.

- Prescription opioid misuse in our communities is a public health crisis in Texas.

- The DOSE OF REALITY: Prevent Prescription Painkiller Misuse in Texas campaign was developed by the Office of the Attorney General of Texas, Texas Health and Human Services, and the Texas Department of State Health Services to raise awareness of this issue and to begin the work toward prevention.

- The DOSE OF REALITY campaign has the following goals:
  - Inform and educate about the improper use of prescription opioids
  - Warn about the dangers of inadequate storage of prescription opioids, including prescription cough syrups
  - Inform each audience as to the role they play in education and misuse prevention, from medical providers and parents to high school students and young adults
  - Encourage positive action, such as safe disposal, alternative pain therapy, family conversations about substance use, and committing to do well in school

- In Texas about one in seven high school students in 2017 took opioids without a prescription or differently than how they were prescribed. (YRBS 2017)

- Reasons young people might misuse of prescription painkillers:
  - Peer pressure
  - To relieve depression
  - To cope with stress
  - To increase alertness so they can do better in school
  - To manage their weight
  - To relieve pain
  - To experiment
  - To escape reality or make reality more bearable
• Misperceptions about prescription painkillers:
  o Safe to use because they were prescribed by a doctor
  o More effective than over-the-counter painkillers
  o It’s ok to take a prescription from someone else because they are just painkillers

• The DOSE OF REALITY about prescription painkillers:
  o ONLY safe to use when the prescription is followed, AND the prescription should ONLY be used by the person for whom it was prescribed.
  o Studies show that over-the-counter painkillers, such as ibuprofen or even aspirin, are just as effective, if not more so, than prescription painkillers, for relieving most pain, AND there is less risk of addiction.
  o It is ILLEGAL to share your prescription opioids and narcotics with anyone else.

More Facts:

• About 1 in 7 Texas high school students took opioids without a prescription or differently than how they were prescribed.

• About 3 out of 4 people seeking treatment for heroin use disorder misused prescription opioids first.

• More than 50% of people who misuse prescription painkillers get them through friends or relatives.

What you should do:

• Encourage students/athletes to call the free, confidential, 24/7 national substance misuse hotline at 1-800-662-HELP (4357).

• Safely store all prescription medications by locking them up.

• Safely dispose of unused or unwanted medications by going to a drug disposal location or Drug Take Back location nearest you.

• Encourage students/athletes to ask their doctor for a non-opioid or non-narcotic alternative for pain, if prescribed.
Let your student/athlete know that you will stand by them and offer support if they need it.
