Texas Office of the Attorney General Names Rosenberg Child Support Employee Assistant Attorney General of the Year
Korya Armstrong singled out as region's top attorney for dedication to Texas children

Rosenberg – The Office of the Attorney General recognized Korya Armstrong, an Assistant Attorney General (AAG) in the Child Support Division's Rosenberg office, for her commitment to Texas children. Armstrong was named Assistant Attorney General of the Year for the Child Support Division's Region 10. She was presented with the award on Wednesday, July 26, 2023, at the Statewide Assistant Attorneys General Conference.

"I am honored to commend Korya for her unwavering commitment and tireless efforts in support of Texas children and families," Angela Colmenero, Provisional Attorney General said. "Her approach exemplifies the best of public service and is an inspiration to us all. I extend my heartfelt gratitude to Korya for selflessly answering the call to serve the people of Texas."

One Assistant Attorney General was selected for this honor from each of the state's ten child support field regions, along with an Assistant Attorney General from the Child Support Division State Office in Austin. Honorees are chosen based upon recommendations from their peers and supervisors, with a particular focus on employees who are willing to go beyond their normal duties to serve Texas children. Each recipient demonstrates a desire to serve Texas families, help their colleagues and enhance the Attorney General's Child Support Division.

Armstrong, who joined the Office of the Attorney General in 2019, represents the State of Texas in legal actions to establish paternity between children of unmarried parents and their biological fathers. She also works to establish, enforce, and modify court orders that require parents to provide child support, medical support and dental support.

A graduate of the Texas Southern University Thurgood Marshall School of Law, Armstrong was chosen to be the region's Assistant Attorney General of the Year for being an exemplary attorney, willing trainer and a strong leader. She has demonstrated the willingness to take on any task and provide wise legal direction to her co-workers. She has earned the reputation as a reliable leader.

"I am so proud to have Ms. Korya Armstrong representing the Child Support Division and Region 10. She is such an asset to the office and region. Korya is always willing to step in and help the office in whatever task is needed. When she attends trainings and RAAG, she is present and ready with the family code as questions arise! Congratulations Korya on this wonderful recognition. Thank you for your dedication to the office and the CSD mission. I look forward to what the future holds for you with the agency,” said Elaine Burgess, Region 10 Senior Regional Attorney.

The Attorney General’s Child Support Division offers an array of services to help families, including locating absent parents; establishing paternity for children born to unmarried parents; establishing, enforcing and modifying child and medical support orders; and collecting and distributing child support payments.
